

February Newsletter

Happy second month of the New Year! In science, your third grader will be learning about animal adaptations and their environments. In math, we're finishing with multiplication and division and now looking at geometry. Be sure to notice all the different shapes you see outside!

In science, your kiddo will be bringing home a paper about a project. Please go over the packet with them. This should be done BY the student, but you are definitely able to supervise/help/encourage.
